Over the past eight years I have had the privilege of serving as a councillor for the Shire of Koorda. This role has deepened my understanding of local government and strengthened my commitment to forward-thinking leadership.

I am passionate about helping shape a resilient and sustainable future for our community - one that honours Koorda's strong history and values, while preparing for the needs of future generations. As an active volunteer across several local organisations, I've seen firsthand the impact we can make when we work together.
